While trekking in the Indian Himalaya, Adrian conducted a cultural field project, examining the agroecology of the Kumaon region of Uttarakhand. Through interviews with villagers and experiential farm work, Adrian analyzed the three-player system of rural subsistence farming.

Come out and support him as he presents his work to the community.

The IPF is a showcase of research and experiential projects by UO students abroad. studyabroad.uoregon.edu